

Fletcher

Fletcher

Fletcher

Charles
Hannibal
Richard

---

Misc Benjamin
George
Michael Nathan

Charles

Fletcher

1-12-1761 Arthur highway to J of W. Planter 18
Charles Fletcher, planter of Gloucester co.
J.D.B. 11-21

J of W

Charles Fletcher

Wife Grace, dau. Mary
+ Sally Fletcher, Son James
dau. Pakey Fletcher wife John
Ex. wit Jo. Wistney Aug 9, 1783
James A. Hunt, 1784
Peter Hatchell

W.B. 9-218

Hannibal

Fletcher

Hannibal F. 150a - June 24, 1635 - on lower Chippewakee ck. ady.
John Russell. For the personal
adv. of his wife Ely. in the Premiere of London in 1634 +
Trans. of Tho Owen in the Secan of London in 1632. + Francis Franklin in the Revenge in 1634

C + P. 10 - 10

Fletcher

Hannibal Fletcher 150a. 6-24-1635 - on lower Chippewakee ck. ady. John Russell for the personal adventure of his wife Ely in the Premiere of London in 1634 etc

Cav + P. 10 - 10

Richard

Rich. Atkins - To gr. son Rich. Fletcher, (under 16) also money to be kept by Col. Henry Harrison.
gr. dau - Sarah after death of my wife + dau Mary Fletcher, gr. dau Mary. To son in law Jas.
Fletcher, last only rel. woman. wife Sarah 1717
Wm Cooke, Wm Shurt
rel. woman
Pm. Geo. Pg 280

280.
P. Geo
W + D

Richard Atkins - gr. son Rich Fletcher, money to be put in charge Henry Harrison's hands, gr. dau Sarah dau Mary Fletcher, gr. dau Mary, son in law
Jas Fletcher, - wife Sarah
~~18~~ 13 of 8 <sup>ber</sup> 1717 6-10-1718
Wm Cooke, Wm Shurt, rel. woman.

Benjamin
George
Michael
Nathan

C.C.
246.

Wm Garrett = P of Michael Fletcher 1660

Fletcher, Benj. = Olive Freeman.
10-26-1796. S. H. pg 68.

Fletcher, Geo. m. 1652 Northumberland Co.
brother of Jas. Fletcher gent of Eltham, Kent, 1 m 1647 Geo F. was "of London, merchant."
some 9 m to 12 - 25-

Is he of Isle of W.
Nathan Fletcher to Eliza
Dewey W. dew, sec. The Kent.
W. + M. Vol. I-57

Funeral Set For Fletcher At Woodville

Funeral services for Judge William Meade Fletcher, 73, a member of the Virginia State Corporation Commission since 1928 and widely known as an authority and author in the field of the law of corporations, who died here Sunday afternoon at his home in the Virginia Apartments, Fifth and Main Streets, after a brief illness of influenza, will be held at 2:30 P. M. Tuesday at Christ Episcopal Church, Woodville, Rappahannock County. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Active pallbearers will be Judge H. Lester Hooker, Judge Thomas A. Ozlin, George A. Bowles, N. W. Atkinson, James M. Hayes, R. Gray Williams, Major Edwin H. Gibson and State Senator Aubrey G. Weaver.

Serving as honorary pallbearers will be Governor Colgate W. Darden, Senator Harry F. Byrd, Representative A. Willis Robertson, former Governor George C. Peery, Judge Burr P. Harrison, Justice George L. Browning, Judge J. R. H. Alexander, justices of the Supreme Court and judges of the State and Federal judiciary, Rappahannock County officials and friends of the family.

Judge Fletcher was born at Sperryville Oct. 21, 1870, and was a son of James William Fletcher and Catherine Meade. His maternal grandfather was the Rt. Rev. William Meade, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia and author of the widely known history, "Old Churches and Families of Virginia."

STUDIED LAW AT VA.

Judge Fletcher studied law at the University of Virginia, where he graduated in 1891 with the LL. B. degree.

After graduating at the university he resided, from 1891 to 1894, in Montana, where he practiced his profession and then moved to Chicago, where he practiced law from 1895 to 1904. From 1905 to 1912 he continued to practice both in Philadelphia and in Chicago and then practiced in Virginia.

From 1899 to 1901 he was professor of law at the John Marshall Law School, in Chicago, and from 1901 to 1904 taught at Northwestern University.

In 1893 he served as special judge of the District Court of Cascade County, Mont., and in 1925-26 was judge of the Court of Juvenile and Domestic Relations of Rappahannock County, Va.

He had been a member of the Virginia State Corporation Commission since 1928, and had served as chairman of the commission to which he was first appointed by Governor Harry Flood Byrd.

He was a member of the Virginia Bar Association, the Illinois Bar Association, the Chicago Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

AUTHOR OF MANY BOOKS

He was the author of "Taxation of Franchises"; "A Treatise on Equity Pleading and Practice"; "Corporation Forms and Precedents"; "Treatise on the Incorporation and Management of Corporations in Illinois"; "Equity Pleading and Practice Forms"; "Cyclopedia of the Law of Private Corporations, 10 volumes"; also of "Corporation Forms and Precedents."

Judge Fletcher was twice married. His first wife was the former Florence Lea, to whom he was married Feb. 18, 1896, and whose death occurred in 1911. A son of this first marriage is William Meade Fletcher, who is now with the RFC, in Washington.

Judge Fletcher's second wife, by whom he is survived, is the former Martha Ball Buckner.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Martha Ball Buckner Fletcher, he is survived by two sons, William Meade Fletcher and James William Fletcher.

Tributes to Judge Fletcher as a scholarly gentleman and a lawyer of great ability were paid here today by Governor Darden and by Chairman H. Lester Hooker, of the State Corporation Commission.

Commenting upon Judge Fletcher's death, Governor Darden said:

"I am distressed to learn of the loss of Judge Fletcher. He was a gentleman of rare ability and has made a notable contribution to Virginia's government over the years by his outstanding service as a member of the State Corporation Commission. He will be greatly missed by those of us who have served with him."

TRIBUTES PAID

Judge H. Lester Hooker, chairman of the State Corporation Commission, said:

"I am greatly distressed at the passing of my associate, Judge William M. Fletcher, with whom I have been so happily associated since he became a member of the State Corporation Commission.

"Judge Fletcher's work on the commission has been singularly outstanding and will remain as a monument to him. He had an exceptionally brilliant and well-trained mind. As a lawyer, he had no superiors. He had a likeable and attractive personality, and his heart was as large as his mind. My associations with him have been of much help to me. We were the closest of friends and I loved him dearly."

Judge Ozlin, who was out of Richmond over the week end, returned to the city today to learn of Judge Fletcher's death. He said, "The death of my associate, Judge Fletcher, comes as a great shock; for more than 10 years we have been in daily contact as members of the State Corporation Commission.

"In the passing of Judge Fletcher, Virginia loses one of her most brilliant minds, and a man of singular devotion to public duty and all things which were for the best interests of the State," Judge Ozlin said. "I cherish the years of association with him, because of the great assistance he has been to me. His forthright and charming manner attracted all who were privileged to know him. The entire staff of the commission will miss him sadly."

instances of the brilliance of Judge Fletcher's approach to corporation problems. It was his custom to sit at the bench during commission hearings with a newspaper spread before him. To all outward appearances he was absorbed in the columns of the New York Daily News, and attorneys appearing before the commission for the first time frequently were astonished when Judge Fletcher would suddenly interrupt argument with a sharp question penetrating to the heart of the legal point involved.

Friends recalled today the speed with which Judge Fletcher pulled the meat from heavy legal bones. He read entire paragraphs and pages at a single glance, and months later could quote the exact wording of a particular sentence, his associates recalled.

Will You Entertain For

will havin place these so art

D
B

IT

TH

F
E
Y

M

"Corporation Forms and Precedents."

Judge Fletcher was twice married. His first wife was the former Florence Lea, to whom he was married Feb. 18, 1896, and whose death occurred in 1911. A son of this first marriage is William Meade Fletcher, who is now with the RFC, in Washington.

Judge Fletcher's second wife, by whom he is survived, is the former Martha Ball Buckner.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Martha Ball Buckner Fletcher, he is survived by two sons, William Meade Fletcher and James William Fletcher.

Tributes to Judge Fletcher as a scholarly gentleman and a lawyer of great ability were paid here today by Governor Darden and by Chairman H. Lester Hooker, of the State Corporation Commission.

Commenting upon Judge Fletcher's death, Governor Darden said:

"I am distressed to learn of the loss of Judge Fletcher. He was a gentleman of rare ability and has made a notable contribution to Virginia's government over the years by his outstanding service as a member of the State Corporation Commission. He will be greatly missed by those of us who have served with him."

TRIBUTES PAID

Judge H. Lester Hooker, chairman of the State Corporation Commission, said:

"I am greatly distressed at the passing of my associate, Judge William M. Fletcher, with whom I have been so happily associated since he became a member of the State Corporation Commission.

"Judge Fletcher's work on the commission has been singularly outstanding and will remain as a monument to him. He had an exceptionally brilliant and well-trained mind. As a lawyer, he had no superiors. He had a likeable and attractive personality, and his heart was as large as his mind. My associations with him have been of much help to me. We were the closest of friends and I loved him dearly."

Judge Ozlin, who was out of Richmond over the week end, returned to the city today to learn of Judge Fletcher's death. He said, "The death of my associate, Judge Fletcher, comes as a great shock; for more than 10 years we have been in daily contact as members of the State Corporation Commission.

"In the passing of Judge Fletcher, Virginia loses one of her most brilliant minds, and a man of singular devotion to public duty and all things which were for the best interests of the State," Judge Ozlin said. "I cherish the years of association with him, because of the great assistance he has been to me. His forthright and charming manner attracted all who were privileged to know him. The entire staff of the commission will miss him sadly."

Members of the Corporation Commission recalled today many instances of the brilliance of Judge Fletcher's approach to corporation problems. It was his custom to sit at the bench during commission hearings with a newspaper spread before him. To all outward appearances he was absorbed in the columns of the New York Daily News, and attorneys appearing before the commission for the first time frequently were astonished when Judge Fletcher would suddenly interrupt argument with a sharp question penetrating to the heart of the legal point involved.

Friends recalled today the speed with which Judge Fletcher pulled the meat from heavy legal bones. He read entire paragraphs and pages at a single glance, and months later could quote the exact wording of a particular sentence, his associates recalled.

Will You Entertain For

will havin
place
I these so arr

D
B

IT

TH

F
E
M

M